SECTION-A

(READING COMPREHENSION)

(MARKS: 20)

1. Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions that follow in your own language.

Birds are warm blooded creatures. Their bodies are covered with feathers that help to keep them warm and dry. Though all birds have wings, some, like the penguin and ostrich cannot fly. The body of the birds are designed to be as light as possible, like hollow bones and a streamlined body, which help them in flying.

Birds have various kinds of beaks, feet and claws according to their diet and way of life. Birds have no teeth and their beaks are made of horn.

The heron has a long slender beak for spearing fish, while a hawk has a sharp curved beak for tearing meat. A parrot has a very strong beak for cracking nuts.

When a bird flaps its wings its feathers push the air back and downwards, so that the bird moves forward and up. Together with the tail, the wings help the bird to steer, brake and land.

Birds differ enormously in colour, size and shape. The largest bird, the ostrich, which can grow upto two and half metres tall cannot fly but can run very fast. The smallest bird is the humming bird which hovers in mid air and even flies backwards, beating its wings at great speed. Birds eat different food. For example, quails eat grass and parrots eat fruits and nuts.

Because of only waterproof feathers, some birds can swim too. These birds eat food like fish, snails and water plants.

Some birds like the heron cannot swim, but live on the edge of water. Some birds like the wood peckers and bee-eaters eat insects.

Some large birds like the eagle, kill the prey with their strong beak and claws. Their eyesight is very good which enables them to see any small movement on the ground. Thus they can identify their prey from a long distance.

- When Tao Ying rides on the bus alone, quite often she does not bother to buy ticket. Why should she? Without her, the bus would still be stopping at every stop, a driver and a conductor would still have to be employed, and the same amount of petrol used.

Clearly Tao Ying has to be astute. When the bus conductor looks like the responsible type, she would buy a ticket as soon as she got on board. But if he appeared to be casual and careless, she would not dream of paying, considering it a small punishment for and a little saving for herself?

- Why is Tao Ying undecided about buying a ticket when she rode a bus that day? What logic does she present? 2
